Security System Tightened

Navy Man Tried To Sell 'Top Secrets' To Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy serviceman assigned to routine duties in a "top secret" area methodically collected highly sensitive information and tried to sell it to the Soviets, it was learned today.

As a result, the Navy is tightening its security system around the world.

The Navy turned aside all questions about the case by saying that it is "under active investigation" and that "other details are classified."

Since the man involved held a secret clearance, it can be assumed that he had undergone a fairly stringent security check beforehand.

There was no indication of the specific nature of the material he tried to sell or whether the Soviets bought it. On these points, too, the Navy refused to talk.

Plan Another Demonstration

Leftists Protesting U.S. A-Sub's Visit To Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Leftists planned another big demonstration in Yokosuka tonight and protested to the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo against the first visit to Tokyo Bay by a U.S. nuclear-powered submarine.

About 12,000 persons staged three demonstrations at Yokosuka Monday as the submarine Snook docked at the U.S. naval base there to give the crew five days of rest and recreation.

The demonstrators were brought to the port 30 miles south of Tokyo by the Communist and Socialist parties. Police said 30 policemen and 21 students were injured in clashes Monday and another 20 persons were hurt Sunday, when the protests started.

None of the demonstrators molested the sailors from the Snook or from the carrier Kitty Hawk and other American ships in port. Weaving through the demonstrators, the sailors went as usual to Yokosuka's shops and 270 bars and clubs.

"We do not intend to harass American sailors or cause trouble," said one demonstration organizer. "We want our protests to be peaceful and orderly."

Privately some demonstrators said they did not want to do anything to hurt Yokosuka's thriving trade with U.S. servicemen. But both police and demonstration leaders said they were worried about members of the radical Zengakuren Students Association.

The previously undisclosed case came to light in a notice to all ships and stations signed by Rear Adm. Rufus L. Taylor, director of the Office of Naval Intelligence.

The notice was intended, it said, to advise commanders "of the danger inherent in our present security system where an individual who has access to secret information may, through the peculiar nature of his duties, gain access to top secret information without an appropriate clearance."

As a result of frequent appearances in the sensitive spaces, the notice said, "authorized personnel assumed that he held a top secret clearance."

Further, the commanders were told, the authorized personnel "failed to challenge his need-to-know."

"Through observation and pertinent questions, the serviceman managed to collect and collate information classified top secret," it added.

"In this case he contacted the Soviets with the intent of engaging in espionage for a monetary gain."

Man Rescues Girl, 5, From District Lake

EAST PALESTINE — A 5-year-old Pittsburgh girl was saved from drowning at State Line Lake Monday afternoon by a city man who jumped into the some 7 feet of water when he saw her floundering after a fall from an embankment.

Melody Atwood tumbled into the lake just east of here in Pennsylvania about 4:30 Sam May 46, of E. Taggart St., who was talking to some people near by, saw the child in the water and jumped in to save her.

Roy Kline, operator of the lake, which is for fishing only, said the girl "would have been gone for sure" if May had not seen her right away and leaped in.

The leftists stepped up their protests for the Snook's port call because it is the first to Yokosuka and because Yokosuka is close to heavily populated Tokyo. Authorities mobilized 5,000 policemen to keep the demonstrators in check.

Students In Warsaw Attack U.S. Embassy

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Students protesting U.S. policies on Viet Nam and Cuba staged a hit-and-run demonstration at the U.S. Embassy today, pelting the building with bricks, ink bottles and potatoes.

First reports said one automobile, nine embassy windows and a glass display case were broken or damaged in the five-minute attack by about 30 protesters.

The students appeared to be mainly Cubans, Africans and other foreigners studying in Poland, an embassy official said.

Some Areas Are Due More Frost Tonight

The cold weather is due to continue tonight, with a chance of some frost in the valleys.

The weatherman did offer a note of cheer, however, with the prediction that Wednesday will be sunny and a little warmer.

There was some frost in the district over the holiday, Edwin Copeland, U.S. weather observer at Millport, reported, but he said damage was minor.

The mercury dipped to 33 degrees yesterday morning and went down to 35 degrees today, Copeland said.

U.S. Traffic Toll Soaring To Record

May Surpass Any Memorial Holiday; 90 Persons Drown

By The Associated Press

The death toll on the nation's roads has soared to an unprecedented three-day Memorial Day figure and it may surpass the total fatalities recorded for any Memorial Day weekend regardless of duration.

As of Monday midnight, local time, 519 lives were lost on America's highways. The death count began at 6 p.m. local time Friday.

In other accidents, 43 persons perished in boating mishaps and 90 persons drowned. Ten of the drowning victims were recorded in South Carolina.

The highest previous traffic death toll for a three-day Memorial Day period was 474 last year.

In 1963, 525 persons were killed during a four-day weekend.

The National Safety Council forecast 540 persons would die during the 78-hour period. The council said Monday the current holiday period was similar to the Fourth of July weekend last year when 547 lives were lost.

Sunny skies and pleasant weather throughout most of the nation contributed to motorists' jamming thoroughfares as millions of Americans traveled to recreation areas, athletic events and family gatherings.

California, with more automobiles and miles of freeways than any other state, recorded the highest number of deaths as of midnight, 55.

The worst single recorded accident occurred in Somerset, Ky., Saturday when five persons died in a three-car collision. Four of the victims were from a vacationing Ohio family.

The lowest three-day rate for a Memorial Day, since records were initiated, was in 1948 when 204 persons died.

The three-day Christmas holiday in 1965 stands as the most tragic highway period with 720 deaths recorded.

The Associated Press made a comparative record of traffic fatalities from 6 p.m. Friday May 13 to midnight Monday May 16 and recorded 376 deaths during the period.

The National Safety Council said 10,710 persons died during the first three months of 1966, a seven per cent increase over the similar period in 1965.

The total highway death toll in 1965 was a record 49,000.

Spilled Metal Causes Fire At Midland Mill

The spillage of hot metal in the Electric Furnace Department at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. caused minor damage early this morning.

Plant officials reported the metal spilled at 6:24 and Midland borough volunteer firemen and the company fire brigade quelled the blaze.

There were no injuries. Borough firemen remained on the scene until 7:18 when the metal had cooled, officials said.

3 Days Of Exploration Scheduled

All's 'Go' For Gemini 9 Space Flight Wednesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

The "go" light flashed brightly to tracking stations around the world today for the Gemini 9 spaceman to embark on a three-day exploration of some unknowns of space travel.

"We're ready to go," said Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford. His rookie pilot, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, soon to become the world's champion cosmic stroller, agreed.

They'll ride a mighty Titan rocket into the hostile void of space at 12:38 p.m. (EDT) Wednesday to search the skies for a stubby target satellite, then boldly latch Gemini 9's nose to it.

Their target, known as an Augmented Target Docking Adapter — ATDA, will be powered into a 185-mile high circular course around the globe by an Atlas booster one hour and 38 minutes before the Titan cranks its engines.

Healthy and trained to razor sharpness, the Gemini twins planned a final review of their mission, action-packed mission with top space agency officials during the day. They also hoped to crowd in a few more hours of practice sessions in a mockup version of the tiny Gemini spaceship.

Technicians, sailing along without a hitch on preparations for launching both the Titan and Atlas rockets, scheduled a five-hour check of all systems aboard the 11-story tall Titan before beginning the final countdown leading to launch.

The weather forecast, sometimes a troublemaker to the nation's space efforts, called for satisfactory conditions at blast-off time, both at Cape Kennedy and the ocean recovery areas.

Gemini 9 will be the second half of a double-barreled U.S. space spectacular this week. If all goes as planned, while Stafford and Cernan sleep their first night in space, a Surveyor spacecraft will try to gently settle its three spidery legs on the lunar surface.

Thursday morning, the world may be seeing television pictures of the moon's landscape shortly before Cernan sets out on a record breaking space walk.

A lean, 32-year-old Chicago native, Cernan plans to ease himself out of Gemini 9's right hatch for an exotic stroll around the world at 17,500 miles an hour.

For 2½ hours, he will be a human satellite.

During the initial daylight time he is outside, he will be fed oxygen through a 25-foot umbilical cord from the spacecraft. Then, with a rocket pack on his back, he will attach himself to a 140-foot rope and shoot from place to place for about an hour.

All he needs to survive — pressure for his suit and oxygen for life — will be fed from the highly sophisticated maneuvering back pack. The pack will be used instead of a space gun like Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White had for the first American space walk last June.

Cernan's elaborate stint as a space walker clearly will be a highlight of Gemini 9's space venture. However, Stafford and Cernan also plan two re-entries during the day. They also hoped to make critical to future U.S. space efforts.

Buddhists Confer With Ky, Thieu

Talks Come After Girl Burns Self To Death In Hue

SAIGON (AP) — Buddhist leaders held a surprise meeting with leaders of the military junta today, apparently the first round of talks to end the anti-government campaign by compromise.

The monks met with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a Roman Catholic and a target in the Buddhist campaign to force the military junta to resign in favor of a provisional civilian regime.

The meeting came after another Buddhist, a 17-year-old girl, had burned herself to death in Hue, center of government opposition in the North. She was the fifth and possibly the sixth suicide in the wave of antigovernment protests.

Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, head of the powerful Buddhist Institute, headed the delegation of four that called at heavily guarded Gia Long Palace, Thieu's residence.

An institute spokesman said no statement will be made for the time being.

The influential Monk Thich Tri Quang, leader of the Buddhist struggle movement in the north provinces, issued an appeal earlier in the day for a halt to protest suicides.

Tri Quang's followers in Hue distributed the edict two hours after Nguyen Thi Van died in a hospital. She doused herself with gasoline and struck a match outside of Hue's Thanh Hoi pagoda at 3 a.m.

Monks and nuns from the pagoda took the girl to a hospital after extinguishing the flames, but she died in convulsions

Rev. Williams To Speak For Seniors' Rite

The Rev. Arthur Williams, pastor of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church, will deliver the sermon at baccalaureate services for the 1966 Class of East Liverpool High School Sunday at 8 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium.

"Holding Faith and A Good Conscience" will be the theme of Rev. Williams' sermon.

The Scripture lesson will be read by the Rev. Russell Mase, former pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, and the prayer will be offered by Capt. Richard L. Bosh of the Salvation Army.

The Rev. Harold Estel of the Oakland Free Methodist Church will give the invocation and the Rev. E. C. Traylor of the First Church of Christ will pronounce the benediction.

The Concert Choir directed by Robert Shankovich will sing anthems preceding and following the sermon, and will offer the choral response following benediction.

The class will enter and leave the auditorium as the Blue Concert Band directed by Vincent Maola plays the processional and recessional.

Pennsylvania Lists 30 Dead On Highways

By The Associated Press

The first spring holiday of the year was edged in black in Pennsylvania as 32 persons were killed accidentally. Thirty of them were victims of traffic accidents—the highest Memorial Day toll in recent years.

Last year there were 21 accidental deaths, all in traffic, and the year before there were 19 traffic deaths and two other accidental deaths, according to Associated Press figures.

The holiday counting period started at 6 p.m. Friday and ran through Monday midnight.

The victims:

Philadelphia—Ronald Snyder, 18, of Philadelphia, was killed Monday when the auto he was riding in crashed into the wall of a building in Philadelphia.

Chester—James Bamble, 29, of Chester Township, drowned Sunday night while swimming in the Delaware River in Chester.

New Wilmington—Bruno Triperi, 47, and his son, Joseph, 15, of Youngstown, Ohio, killed Sunday when a car they were riding in hit a bridge railing near Pulaski, Lawrence County.

Mount Pleasant—Ronald Cope, 8, of Mount Pleasant, killed Sunday when he was hit by a car.

Bowmansville—Alan K. Brubacher, 65, of East Earl R.D. 1 and his wife, Mary S., 63, killed Sunday night when they were hit by a car as they were walking along a rural road near their home.

Pittsburgh—Mrs. Mary Wood, 24, of Pittsburgh, swung her arm through a glass panel door during an argument Sunday and bled to death, police said.

Doylesboro—William D. Landrum, 23, of Warminster, and Marshal E. Blum of Hatboro, killed Sunday when their auto rammed a tree and utility pole on Route 202, three miles east of Doylesboro.

Waynesboro—Richard E. Clark, 16, of Waynesboro, killed Saturday in a one-car crash on rain-slicked Route 316 near Waynesboro.

Reading—Steven Franckowiak, 53, of Tamaqua, killed Sunday night in a three-vehicle collision in Rehrersburg, Berks County.

Lancaster—Robert Giordano, 18, of Lancaster, died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday night in a traffic accident near Lancaster.

Shamokin—Susan Metzinger, 7, hit by a car Friday night.

Bristol—David Greenhorn, 24, of Bristol Twp., died when an auto raced out of control and crashed into a tree in Bristol Twp.

Springfield—Anthony Sabatelli, 40, killed Saturday while crossing Baltimore Pike in Springfield Twp., Delaware County.

Philadelphia—Mrs. Sadie Herman, 81, died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday night in an auto accident.

Patchinville—Roger D. Solley, 29, of Barberton, Ohio, killed Friday night when his auto swerved from the road and hit a pole and trees near this Clearfield County town.

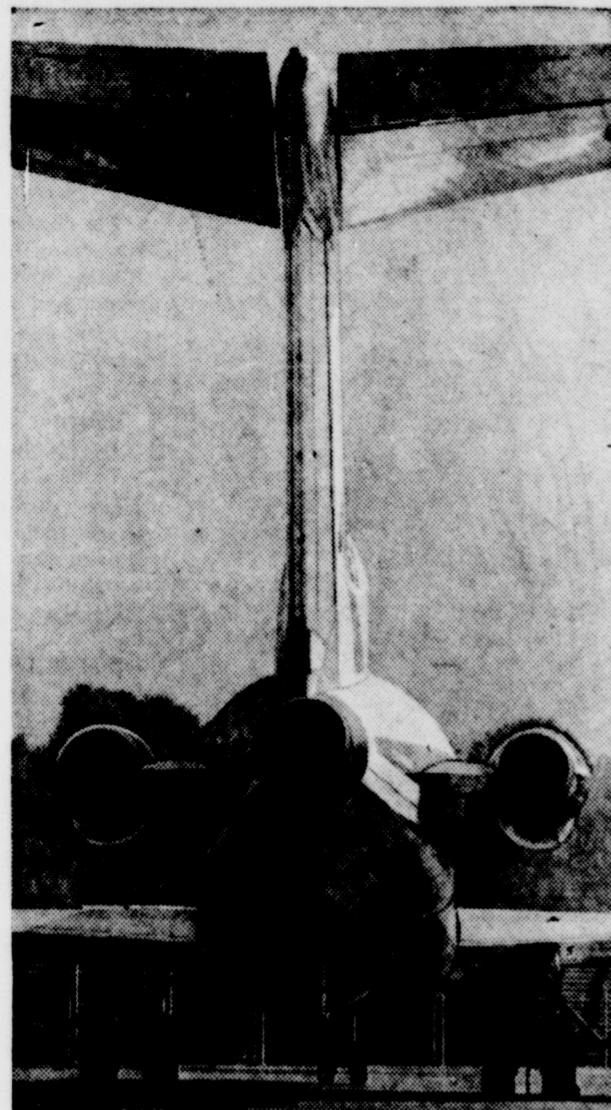

Kittanning—Thomas A. Bowser, 44, of Kittanning, R.D. 2 and Edgar Hamm Jr., of New Bethlehem, were killed Saturday in a two-car collision near Kittanning.

Monessen—Charles R. Cunningham, 34, of White Oak Borough, killed Saturday when two cars crashed near Monessen.

Washington—John Jancart, 2, of Burgettstown, R.D. 3, killed Saturday when his car rammed the rear of another near Washington, Pa.

Trio Injured In Car Crash

Three persons were injured, but only one required hospitalization, when a southbound auto plowed into the rear of a parked car Monday night at 9:55 on St. Clair Ave. about 100 feet south of Midway Ln., police reported.

The collision involved a 1964 four-door sedan operated by John N. Taylor, 44, of Homewood Ave. and a parked 1955 sedan owned by Floyd L. Black of 2764 St. Clair Ave., officers said.

Mrs. Doris Louise Taylor, 40, a passenger in her husband's car, was admitted to City Hospital with lacerations of the lower leg and the nose. Later she was transferred to Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls.

Two other passengers in Taylor's auto were treated and released. They were listed as Norman Welch, 38, of Post Office Box 87, Chester, who suffered a dislocated little finger of the right hand, and Mike Foran, 13, son of Don Foran of Homewood Ave., who suffered a nose bleed.

Patrolman L. E. Richard, who investigated, cited Taylor on a charge of reckless driving.

Taylor told the officer his attention was distracted momentarily as he talked with his wife, causing him to hit the parked car.

There was extensive damage to the front of Taylor's car, while the Black auto was written off as a total loss, officers said. Firemen were summoned to flush gasoline from the street at the crash site.

Taylor is scheduled to appear Friday before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Clement called a noon news conference to announce that he will oppose U.S. Sen. Ross Bass for the Democratic nomination for the second time.

Bass, 48, defeated Clement two years ago for the two years in the unexpired term for the late Sen. Estes Kefauver. In announcing for re-election Saturday Bass predicted the Aug. 4 primary would have "the same cast and, I hope, the same ending."

Clement has been at work the past two years to try for a different ending.

Clement, who will be 46 Thursday, was the state's youngest governor when elected to his first term at age 32 in 1952. He has served one two-year and two four-year terms, and can't succeed himself.

Another Look At The Little League

The Little Leaguers are hard at it again on local and district diamonds.

Accompanying the cry of "Play ball!" each season is the question: "Is Little League baseball — under its present type of operation—good or bad for the youngsters?"

The question has been argued pro and con on both a local and national level, with opposition and support equally vigorous.

Opponents of the program argue among other things that the game has been taken away from the youngsters by too hard-driving managers and by too doting parents; that the players, in some instances, are deprived of what could have been a possible bright future in the game by improper advice that affects their "arms" and their batting at too early an age.

Proponents point with pride to organized play which affords youngsters an opportunity to learn the game under the best possible conditions — proper equipment, good playing facilities and adult leadership.

There are points on both sides.

It's no secret that some parents let love for their youngsters turn them into anything but sensible fathers and mothers as the desire for victory robs them of a reasonable approach to competition.

And it's quite likely that in some rare cases a prospective future major leaguer may suffer harm because of sincere, but misguided advice.

But we wonder if the benefits don't outweigh the disadvantages and make things worthwhile over all.

The closer tie between parents and youngsters; the helping hand that comes from other adults; the spirit of competition; the ability to learn to win and to lose. These things can't all be bad.

And there's the feeling expressed in the following letter from "A Salineville Little League Father and Friend of the Boys:"

"Within the next week or two our Salineville Little Leaguers will be selling baseball sched-

The Snoopers

"The most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized man," runs a celebrated dissent of the late Justice Louis D. Brandeis, is "the right to be let alone."

As if in mockery, an ever-multiplying horde of surreptitious snoops is gnawing away at the privacy of citizens today with the eagerness of an army of cornborers turned loose in Iowa.

Areas of their lives most civilized men consider nobody else's business indeed have become the staple of a big business, which is getting bigger — while nearly all its victims remain blithely unsuspecting.

"THE AVERAGE urban citizen," says Bernard Fensterwald Jr., chief counsel for a Senate subcommittee investigating invasions of privacy, "can't go a single day without being spied on, listened to, or peeped at."

If that grim picture seems overdrawn, consider some actual examples.

A New York department store has hidden tiny microphones on the counter to broadcast customers' conversations to a back room where the eavesdropping salesman can decide what fit to make.

Other stores have two-way mirrors in the women's dressing rooms — to prevent shoplifting of course. Closed-circuit television cameras scan the aisles, loading docks and employee lounges of supermarkets and stores in a growing number of cities, and any big company that doesn't keep a concealed camera to snap your picture when you cash a check just doesn't have enterprise.

"The frightening thing about it," says Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., "is that people are becoming conditioned to this sort of snooping as a normal part of their existence. We're getting dangerously close to Orwell's World of 1984."

That world, as the novelist portrayed it, was one in which "you had to live — did live, from habit that became instinct — in the assumption that every sound you made was overheard."

WITH TODAY'S modern gadgets, telephone tapping has become a game any number can play. Federal investigators have tapped the pay

Purely Personal

Secretary of Defense McNamara has a retort for critics who recall that the Edsel was put on the market while he was president of the Ford Co. "I never predicted it would be a financial success," he says with a grin.

Montreal must assuredly be the up-and-doingest city in North America at the moment, with a new downtown springing up and a 1,000-acre world exposition a-building at the same time. "C'est magnifique! C'est incroyable!"

This was the year we decided to go all-out for zinnias planted with seed, instead of already developed plants. So this was the year it rained and rained and rained, and where the seeds were to have been planted is now an impenetrable mass of chickweed thriving in soaking-wet soil.

Can anything be more desolate than the death of an individual with no relatives to take responsibility for funeral details and whose friends must step in to perform the final sad duties?

I am working on a device that will make public speakers hold their heads high while speaking. I am amazed at the number who drop their heads until their voices are inaudible. My device would be a chin rest attached to the ubiquitous microphones that line all speaker's stands these days.

Everybody must have chuckled by this time over a new preparation guaranteed to take the curl out of hair so all females may get that coming-in-out-of-the-rain look from a squeeze bottle.

An expert is someone who thinks up unworkable solutions for imaginary problems that would solve themselves if the experts would go away and let nature take its course.

'This Thing Is Bigger Than Both Of Us'

Iron Horse To The Rescue!

By Bem Price

In nearly every major city, coast to coast, city fathers are working on railroads — and all because of the automobile.

For the rail commuter, accustomed to sweating in summer and freezing in winter, and dirty cars all the time, there is hope.

For the commuting motorist, creeping through traffic, there is hope.

As matters now stand, there are 90 million motor vehicles in the nation. By 1975, the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads estimates, there will be 120 million used by 223 million people.

Traffic congestion, especially during the morning and evening rush hours, has forced city planners from Boston to Los Angeles, San Francisco to Miami, to take another look at the relationship between the need for more highways and what this will do to cities.

IN MANY instances their thoughts have turned to railroads as a means of moving masses of people rapidly and, at the same time, relieving traffic jams.

From coast to coast the old iron horse, once apparently relegated to dull drayage chores, is being groomed afresh for the carriage trade.

New York has bought one busy commuter railroad, the Long Island, for $65 million and plans to spend over $200 million refurbishing stations, enlarging parking lots, buying air-conditioned cars with comfortable seats, and even building a new route into the heart of Manhattan.

Boston has bought what is left of the defunct Old Colony line for $2.5 million, is spending $41 million to expand it along the South Shore. With the railroad, Boston's planners believe, a journey which now takes one hour by car during peak traffic periods can be cut to 14 minutes.

In all, Boston, too, has plans for a $200 million improvement in rail commuter services along the South Shore and over the Boston & Maine and New Haven Railroad routes.

Philadelphia is purchasing the commuter rail-services of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Reading Railroad and plans to connect the two through a $45 million tunnel under the city's core.

Cities which do not have rail commuter services are planning to build them.

As a starter, Washington is now engineering a $431 million subway which ultimately will fan out into the rapidly growing Virginia and Maryland suburbs.

LOS ANGELES has plans for an $800 million commuter line which will speed through a tube under Wilshire Blvd. four times faster than freeway traffic. Baltimore is planning a $292 million system; Atlanta a $36 million one.

And then there is San Francisco, which is building a $1.2 billion rail system, designed as the world's best. It will zip under the bay, bore through the Berkeley hills and soar over the countryside on an aerial carriage way.

Chicago is spending $1 million on plans for a new subway. Over the past eight years the privately-owned Chicago and North Western Railway Co. has proved a point: if you consider the passenger, the passenger will consider you.

The C&NW spent $51 million modernizing its equipment, $4 million on expansion and increased its passenger load 700 per cent. At present, 80,000 commuters use the C&NW.

In all, there are at least 24 cities actively interested in acquiring, leasing, improving or building some sort of railroad.

Ten of the 24 cities are spending or planning to spend, nearly $3 billion rail transportation. As for the others, they are still in the talking-planning stage.

Even the federal government is in the railroad act with plans — $90 million worth over the three years — for developing a 160-mile-an-hour train between Washington and Boston.

It will serve as a prototype for connecting points within the five super-cities now developing along discernible "corridors."

These super-cities are growing between Washington and Boston, Los Angeles and San Francisco, Miami and Jacksonville, Buffalo and Chicago, and between San Antonio-Dallas-Houston.

The developing problems of transportation — moving goods and people swiftly through congested areas — is now becoming a national concern.

It is possible to fly at 500 miles an hour between one airport and another and spend more time on the ground portion of the journey than in the air. Between Boston and Pittsburgh the jets' flight time is 55 minutes. The time consumed reaching the airport in Boston and traveling from the airport in Pittsburgh to the heart of the business district is 2 hours and 15 minutes.

WHY THIS national concern?

President Johnson put it this way in a message to Congress: "The life of every citizen is influenced by transportation service and this vast economic activity not only absorbs one out of every five Gross National Product dollars, it shapes the environment in which we live and work. Advances in our transportation system must constantly be made if we are to continue growth and prosperity — and if America is to be a livable nation."

The President has proposed creation of a Department of Transportation to bring under one roof the 35 federal agencies which now deal with some form of transport.

Under the Mass Transportation Act of 1964, meanwhile, the Department of Housing and Urban Development — HUD — is authorized to spend $375 million aiding communities to solve the problems of moving people to and from work. Congress, however, actually has appropriated only $320 million. HUD now says it needs another $150 million.

Beyond this, Congress already has put up $75 million to experiment with ways of moving people more efficiently in heavily populated areas.

Hud has received inquiries from over 250 cities interested in solutions to local transportation problems.

For the first time in 50 years or more, there is money — federal and private — for basic research into rail transportation.

Buddhist Suicides Raise A Question

WASHINGTON

The extremist Buddhist leaders in Viet Nam stay away from the gasoline can themselves. It's the minor, unheard-of Buddhists who are committing suicide by setting themselves afire.

There can be no doubt that the reported suicides in the past few days were committed with the approval of the leadership.

Unknown is this part of what happened: did these people volunteer to kill themselves or were they asked to?

These deaths, intended to force the overthrow of the military government led by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, are aimed at world opinion but particularly at American opinion. The United States has supported Ky's regime.

BUT SUCH self-immolation by the Buddhists is based on a plea for pity — to see things the Buddhists' way and give them what they want — and not on an appeal to reason or what is right.

The hope is that the suicides will so horrify President Johnson and the American government — or so shame them before the world — that the United States will abandon Ky.

But it's a plea for pity mixed with blackmail — aggressive masochism — for Tam Chau, chairman of the Buddhist Institute, warned of more suicides unless Ky steps down and lets a civilian government take over.

Chau said: "We will continue this struggle in the spirit of non-violence of Buddhism." Asked if he considered suicide non-violence, he said: "I see no contradiction, no contradiction whatsoever."

Then he committed a perfect contradiction.

This struggled between the Buddhists and Ky's government is political and not at all religious, for Ky, a Buddhist himself, is not repressing or persecuting any religious group for religious reasons.

But Chau said, "We Buddhists are not involved in a political struggle. We are defending our religion."

AND TRI QUANG, perhaps the most militant Buddhist leader, said there might be more suicides unless Johnson dropped his support of Ky. He talked after one of the burnings and, the New York Times reported, was "smiling impishly." He had written to Johnson for assistance.

But the administration brushed him off — this was two weeks ago — with a statement by Secretary of State Rusk who said this government wanted all factions to lay aside their differences and pull together nationally.

After two suicides Saturday, a monk warned there would be more on Sunday and still more today.

In view of all this there can be no doubt that these suicides are not spontaneous acts by emotional individuals but are pre-arranged, with the blessing of the leaders who let the minor people die to further their cause.

This is one of the most cruel, cold-blooded performances in history. It is extremism at its worst. Yet these same Buddhist leaders want a hand in running the government.

Reports from Viet Nam say these leaders do not represent the vast majority of Buddhists, who make up 80 per cent of the population, but only one faction.

William Henry Harrison served the shortest term of any U.S. president. He was inaugurated March 4, 1841, and died exactly one month later.

2 More Assessed Fines

7 Motorists Forfeit $144 In Police, Patrol Charges

Seven motorists cited by local police and the State Highway Patrol forfeited $144.50 in appearance bonds today in Municipal Court.

Fines were assessed on two more of the defendants by Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp, who also granted a continuance in the case of another driver.

Clark Stephen Allison of Painesville forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He was cited by the patrol at 3:13 a. m. Saturday.

A $32.50 bond was forfeited by Herbert A. Loan of Dublin, Va., a trucker charged with operating a tractor-trailer rig with an overweight load. He was cited Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. on Route 30 by the patrol, which alleged his vehicle was carrying a 34,960 - pound cargo, 1,950 pounds over the legal maximum of 32,960.

FIVE OTHER cited drivers each forfeited bonds of $17.50. The defendants and the circumstances of their arrests were:

Albert DeSarro of 1201 Commerce St., Wellsville, crashing a traffic light at 12:12 a. m. Monday at 5th and Market Sts.

B. Bayard Flick of Hickory, Pa., failure to halt for a stop sign at Routes 170 and 30 Saturday at 1:10 a. m.

Robert J. Carter of Warrensville Heights, speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30 Monday at 9:50 p. m.

Disappointment Noted In Memorial Turnout

"I think East Liverpool showed a great lack of enthusiasm," a committee man of the Veterans City Council commented today about the annual Memorial Day program Monday morning.

"I don't know whether it was too many other activities, work interference, or just a lack of patriotism," the committee member continued, hailing the brief, but impressive address of Donald L. Gruenbaum of Marysville, past commander of the Ohio American Legion.

The crowd which watched the parade was "rather good," the committee man said, but pointed to only a sparse attendance for the ceremony at City Hall at the conclusion of the parade. The chilly weather may have cut the attendance, the committee man said.

Mayor George E. Willshaw was master of ceremonies for the program, which opened with the East Liverpool High School band playing the national anthem.

Chuckie Dyke, commander of the Sons of American Legion Post 374, led the pledge of allegiance and Karl Oyster, an ELHS senior, delivered the Gettysburg Address.

Songs were sung by Ernest Lowe, president of City Council, and the invocation was given by Fr. William Lawler of St. Aloysius Catholic Church. The benediction was pronounced by Rabbi Sidney Hoffman of Congregation Beth Shalom and "Taps" were played by Gary Martin and Ron Givens, members of the band.

The parade followed the traditional route, moving west on 5th to Jefferson, south of Jefferson and then turning east toward Broadway.

It paused briefly at City Hall where Mrs. Anna Osborn, a Gold Star mother, and Mrs. Mary Wines, a member of the Navy Mothers Club and chaplain of the state organization, placed a memorial wreath at the War Memorial.

Preceding the parade, the

Navy Mothers were in charge of a service on the Chester bridge at which the Post 374 firing squad fired a salute.

James H. Cregar and John Long headed the Veterans City Council committee.

$100 Penalty Decreed For Man On 2 Counts

Fines totaling $100 and costs were imposed today in Municipal Court on Edward Banicki of Dairy Rd. after he pleaded guilty before Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp on charges alleging intoxication and improper use of firearms.

Banicki was cited on Dairy Rd. Friday at 6:30 p. m. by Constable Gene Gilbert of Liverpool Township, who said he confiscated a 22-caliber rifle owned by the defendant.

The constable filed the intoxication charge, while the second count alleging that Banicki "without malice, pointed, aimed and discharged firearms" was signed by Mrs. Pansy Lee. The judge fined Banicki $50 and costs on each of the counts and ordered him remanded to County Jail until the penalties are paid.

LISBON — Nils P. Johnson of Canfield, presiding judge of the 7th District Court of Appeals, used Lincoln's Gettysburg Address as the theme for his Memorial Day talk Monday in Lisbon cemetery.

Approximately 400 gathered around the speaker's stand, choosing sunny spots because of the cool wind.

Comdr. Walter McCoy of the American Legion 10th District was master of ceremonies. The David Anderson High School band, directed by George Bortz, played the national anthem.

The Rev. Mark Headland of the Trinity Friends Church gave the invocation and benediction.

Principal George M. Nace Jr. of the high school read Gen. John Logan's general order 11 establishing the first Decoration Day in 1868.

Joe Feropoli, high school senior, recited the Gettysburg Address.

The traditional salute to the dead followed at the GAR monument near by. Trumpet players James Kelm and Michael Monda of the high school band played taps.

McCoy introduced Mrs. Anna Reuf and Mrs. Helen Guy, Gold Star mothers; Freeman Elliott of Rogers R. D., who attends Lisbon's service every year in his World War I uniform; Mayor Dean Stockman and Comdr. John Blockson of VFW Post 4111 and John Tucker of American Legion Post 275.

The two veterans' organizations sponsor the Memorial Day parade and service and a Memorial eve service on the Square.

More than 50 veterans and sons divided into three groups Sunday night, marched through darkened streets singing Civil War songs and met at the Square. Grouped on the music court before a field of poppy-decorated white crosses, they sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The Rev. James Moxley of the First Christian Church pronounced the benediction and Kelm and Monda played taps.

The Budget Brigade

Finds It Costs More And More To Feed Family

By The Associated Press

A housewives' budget brigade concluded today that government price indexes fairly reflect a hard fact of life in the 1960s: it is costing more and more to feed the family.

Many housewives seem firmly convinced that food prices just about doubled in the past year. They didn't, but government figures, supported by an independent Associated Press survey in March, show that the cost of a typical week's shopping went up nearly 7 per cent.

Meals, however, have risen sharply. Based on the government's national price averages, it cost $6.22 to buy one pound each of sirloin steak, hamburger, pork chops, ham, bacon and lamb chops in mid-March, compared with $5.12 in mid-March of 1965 — a rise of 21.5 per cent.

By contrast, the other items on the shopping list of the AP's budget brigade rose only 1.5 per cent.

The AP's budget brigade figures, and the government's, should enable skeptical shoppers to judge for themselves. The AP housewives themselves started out highly skeptical on their 12-city spot survey.

They said food prices over-all were unquestionably high, although many a penny could be shaved off the grocery bill by determined bargaining from store to store. Some made the point that few housewives can spare so much time from their other home-making duties.

If a housewife does all her shopping at one store, the researcher in St. Louis said, "It doesn't matter much which store you shop at — they'll get all your money anyway."

"Each store's weekly bargains really were bargains," she reported. "They cut off as much as 20 or 30 cents per item. But they seem to make it up somewhere else."

The Associated Press budget brigade priced a list of 38 to 40 food items, from potatoes to sirloin steak, in three supermarkets in each of the 12 cities on March 10.

The results were set alongside returns from U. S. Department of Labor checkers who shopped a wider range of stores in the same cities at approximately the same time. (The government checkers also cover stores in 50 smaller cities for which no price breakdown is published).

In the 12 cities where the AP paralleled the government survey, average total bills were remarkably similar and in the case of St. Louis came out at precisely the same figure — $20.43.

The government goes about its monthly price-gathering in a coolly scientific way, using 12 checkers working under field supervisors and supported by computers at home base. The AP survey was a matronly affair on a much smaller scale but following in the footsteps of the government checkers.

AP housewives spiced their findings with pointed comments about food prices — like "exorbitant" and "skyrocketing."

Food prices make up only 22.5 per cent of the government's over-all cost of living index, which during the March-to-March period rose 2.5 per cent. However, it is food prices which the housewife encounters face to face every week and is most aware of.

Both AP and government checkers reported Cleveland to be the cheapest city for the over-all food bill. Government checkers came up with a figure of $19.67 for 39 items, and the AP housewife found the same items for $18.77.

Government checkers found San Francisco to be the costliest city, with an average price of $21.27 for 39 items compared with $19.70 reported by the AP checker. Costliest city in the AP survey was Boston, with a total of $21.06 compared with the government finding of $21.10.

In between the extremes came Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Washington, D.C.

AP's San Francisco checker called recent price rises in meat "exorbitant."

"My budget is strained to the breaking point," commented the Cleveland housewife.

The housewife in Washington complained that "some basic items of diet have increased over the past year with no publicity — bread up 4 cents, milk up 4 cents, rice up 4 cents, potatoes up 1 to 2 cents for 10 pounds."

Said the Chicagoan: "The manager of a store I checked said he had 600 voids in the past week. A 'void' is where a customer finds he doesn't have enough money to pay for everything in his basket."

"All prices have skyrocketed but meat is extremely high," said the Pittsburgh reporter.

The Baltimore surveyor said "an employee of one of the supermarkets included in my canvass claimed he is spending more time changing the shelf prices of goods than stocking the shelves themselves."

"The average housewife finds herself buying a lower quality item to keep her budget balanced," said the Detroit. "I watch pennies closer than ever before."

The AP budget brigade turned up a wide spread in prices for individual items from store to store in the same city. But by the time they had priced all the items on the list, the total tended to be about the same.

In Baltimore, for example, one store had an 89-cent special on sirloin steak while a second store charged $1.19. Nevertheless the checker's total bill was $20.57 in the first store, $20.59 in the other.

Reports by both sets of checkers indicated that pork prices, which had been in orbit for months, were beginning to level out or decline, although still far higher than a year ago.

Government checkers reported an average price of $11.17 for pork chops in Baltimore compared with $11.77 in February and 93.2 cents in March 1965. $1.09.5 in Boston compared with $1.08.7 and 90.6 cents. $1.13.2 in Cleveland compared with $1.15.7 and 90.8 cents, and $1.07.6 in Detroit compared with $1.12.1 and 85.1 cents.

AP's budget brigade found their three-store average price for pork chops to be $11.77 in Baltimore, $1.11.7 in Boston, $1.11.3 in Cleveland and 99 cents in Detroit.

The tendency for food prices in general to level out was reflected in April statistics announced by the government a week ago showing that over-all food costs rose only .1 of 1 per cent over the March averages.

The AP budget brigade in general agreed that there are several ways to resist advancing prices. These include buying only the items on a prepared list, placing a limit on the total to be spent, eliminating luxuries and buying less expensive grades.

The AP's Detroit checker said advances in the processing of foods often beguile the shopper into spending more than she intended.

"Before, it was canned peas, now it's frozen peas with miniature onions or in mushroom sauce," she said. "Corn once came packed in water. Now it is frozen in pure butter."

The Cleveland member of the team remarked that "so complete and elegant an array of prepared foods now is on the market that I begin to suspect the cook may be done away with."

The budget brigade said shopping in several stores saves money, but may prolong the chore of buying the groceries beyond which that busy housewife can spare.

The Philadelphia checker said: "I find it necessary to devote considerably more time to shopping all three stores to take advantage of their loss leaders and determine which stores have the better values."

The brigade's San Francisco housewife said she was surprised.

New Titles Are Given To 4-H Club Advisers

LISBON — Club advisers in the Columbiana County 4-H program have new titles this year, County 4-H Agent Robert Lewis reports.

Previously called "first," "co" or "assistant" advisers, they now are "organization," "project" or "activity" advisers.

Lewis said the change will result in more specialization in teaching and more participation by adults. A number of clubs already have added additional advisers in their programs, he said.

The aim of the new system, Lewis continued, is to reach a teacher-student ratio of one to five within a few years compared with the present one to seven. The improved ratio will mean better individual counseling of 4-H'ers, he said.

The organization adviser will coordinate the entire over-all local club program, project advisers will be responsible for working with one or more project areas "in which they feel confident" and activity advisers will assist with special events like educational tours, demonstrations, exhibits and contests.

In clubs with only 10 to 12 members, the responsibilities of two or three advisers will overlap, Lewis explained. Clubs with larger enrollments have found that other adults in the community are more willing to work with 4-H if they know what their specific responsibility will be.

Lewis said "many women are happy to share their talents a few hours a year in such project areas as clothing and cooking, while the men are willing to assist with such skills as woodworking and electricity."

An example of the change is the St. Clair Pioneers Club for which Raymond Rudibaugh is organization adviser and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Trotter are project advisers. All advisers of this club, which has 15 members, are sharing some of the responsibilities of the various activities.

There are more than 220 advisers in the county 4-H program, Lewis said.

Boy To Appear In Probe Of Fire

A 6-year-old East End youngster is to appear with his parents Wednesday morning before Juvenile Officer James Miller at City Hall to determine whether he was involved in starting a fire last Thursday in a building on Harvey Ave. housing a vacant storeroom downstairs and an apartment upstairs.

Cases still are pending against a 4-year-old girl and a 5-year-old boy, who also were referred to Miller by city firemen for starting the fire in the building owned by Mrs. Jennie Eckert.

Meanwhile, another East End boy was found guilty of breaking one pane of glass a week ago at the Hall China Co. and was placed on 7 p. m. curfew for 90 days by Miller.

Two other youths were found not to be involved, Miller said. The youth placed on probation was found to have broken only one pane, although seven panes were broken at the plant, Miller said.

Although females outnumber males in the general population, there are 108.4 males for every 100 females on the nation's farms.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We are two Ohio teachers whose students are between 10 and 12 years of age. The questions they ask about sex and marriage indicate that they are getting absolutely no information at home.

On occasion we have telephoned mothers and suggested that they discuss various aspects of puberty and the beginning of life with their children. We feel that home is the logical place to learn about these matters.

Some mothers expressed shock and disgust that their children would be thinking about "such nasty things." One mother told me, "You can be sure I will punish Johnny if he tries to get me to talk to him about such filth."

If parents refuse to discuss these matters with their children, where are the youngsters supposed to learn? What can we do to help them?—TROUBLED.

Dear Troubled: Fortunately, sex education is at long last being permitted in public schools—even in Chicago!

Ohio is one of the more enlightened states in this regard. I'm ashamed to say Illinois has been among the most backward. I know of some Chicago teachers who heroically have given their students some decent sex education at the risk of getting fired.

Of course, home is the best place to learn about life and sex but if kids can't get the answers at home school is the second-best place.

Teachers who are asked questions about sex and marriage should answer them frankly and honestly. They should have the support of their principals and their boards of education. They are doing the parents' job and they should receive thanks—not criticism.

Broken Chain

Dear Ann: Periodically I receive chain letters. It seems these letters run in streaks. I won't get one for months, then suddenly I'll receive five or six in one week. I always have considered chain letters a nuisance and have torn them up.

Two weeks ago our teen-age daughter received a chain letter which closed with these words: "If you keep this chain going you will have good luck. If you break this chain your luck will be very bad."

Gladys showed the letter to me and asked my advice. I told her to use her own judgment but I let her know that I always have thrown them out. Gladys decided to do the same.

Don't ask me why, but ever since that day, the poor girl has had one disappointment after another. She is convinced that the chain letter she destroyed is responsible for the jinx.

Will you please say something in your column to set her straight? — NOT SUPERSTITIOUS.

Dear Not: Of course there is no relation between the chain letter and your daughter's run of bad luck, but it's much easier (and conveniently face-saving) to blame you.

Editor Pays Visit To T.S.&T. Co.

MONROE, Mich. (AP)—An autopsy was scheduled today in an attempt to determine what caused Harry O. Donnelly, 64, of Fairlawn, Ohio, to die after he and his wife were taken unconscious off a beached yacht.

Donnelly and his wife, Louise, 71, of suburban Akron were brought to Memorial Hospital Sunday and he died Monday. The Toledo Coast Guard Station said the couple's Lake Erie cabin cruiser, normally berthed at Sandusky, Ohio, was found aground Saturday night in the Toledo Beach marina area. At that time, the Donnellys were offered a ride ashore but declined, deciding to await a tow boat the next day.

The next day when the Coast Guard came by both were unconscious and suffering exposure.

Vietnamese Students Slated To Be Honored

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Vietnamese students will be honored guests at the fourth annual Latin American Student Congress in Havana July 29-Aug. 8, a Cuban broadcast said.

The Havana radio said representatives from the United States would attend. It did not name the U. S. student groups.

appointments on a chain letter than to accept personal responsibility for failure.

You probably can't sell this notion to Gladys NOW but as time goes on and she becomes more rational and mature (hopefully), she will see evidence on the other side which will persuade her.

Confidentially

TO BABOON LEGS: I sympathize with you and I agree with you. A 15-year-old girl should be allowed to "do something" as a matter of good grooming. Neither depilatory cream nor shaving will hurt you.

Will you please say something in your column to set her straight? — NOT SUPERSTITIOUS.

Dear Not: Of course there is no relation between the chain letter and your daughter's run of bad luck, but it's much easier (and conveniently face-saving) to blame you.

Ohio Traffic Toll Set At 15 For Holidays

By The Associated Press
A determined crackdown on traffic violators helped contribute to a relatively low holiday weekend death toll—about half of what was predicted—but well over a dozen persons died on Ohio highways.

At least 15 died in traffic accidents during the long 78-hour Memorial Day weekend, far below the 33 deaths predicted by the Department of Highway Safety for the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. Not one multiple-fatality accident was reported.

In other deaths, there were at least six due to drowning and of those, one was attributed to a boating accident.

Cooler weather the latter part of the weekend may have kept some motorists from taking outings in the Buckeye State, helping to lower the toll.

Last year there were 32 traffic deaths during the Memorial Day weekend.

State safety officials had hoped for a deathless holiday weekend and expressed confidence that the toll could be reduced. Orders were put out to law enforcement agencies to crack down on reckless drivers.

The latest traffic deaths:

Sunday

Charles Jacks, 19, Rt. 3, Carrollton, when the car in which he was a passenger crashed off Ohio 39 near Carrollton.

Dennis L. Moffit, 16, North Fairfield, when his car crashed off Ohio 60 near New London, Huron County.

David M. Brady, 21, Conneaut, when the car in which he was riding left a road near Conneaut and flipped over.

James E. Hanson, 23, Belpre, whose car was hit from behind and ran off Ohio 60 north of McConnellsburg.

Eva Jean Dunfee, 44, Coshocton, passenger in an auto that overturned and went down an embankment at U.S. 36 and old Ohio 16 east of Coshocton.

Charles V. Sexton, 27, Columbus, when thrown from his car after it crashed in Columbus.

Monday

Michael J. McSherley, 20, Dayton, when his car ran off U.S. 35 west of Dayton and struck a tree.

Mrs. Margaret Powerl, 21, Brooklyn, N.Y., when the auto driven by her soldier husband hit a car parked on the ramp of the Ohio Turnpike east of the Sandusky interchange.

John Jakab, 38, Cleveland, in a head-on auto collision in Newburgh Heights, a Cleveland suburb.

Weekend Drownings

Alex Bramer Jr., 41, Perry Township, Lake County, whose boat capsized in a farm pond near Painesville Saturday.

Terrance Richard Allen, 10, Columbus, swimming in Cave Lake, Pike County, Saturday.

Jerry Ray Tomlin, 12, West Milton, swimming in the Stillwater River near his home Saturday.

Donald Minnick, 11, Versailles, swimming at Boy Scout camp near Bradford in Delaware County Saturday.

Gary Stephan, 4, Toledo, evidently after falling from a dock at Nettle Lake, Williams County Sunday.

Leslie Hendershott, 4, West Richfield, in a farm pond near his uncle's home in Valley View, suburban Cleveland Monday night.

More Than 60 Killed During Nigerian Riots

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Northern Nigeria was apparently calm but tense today following weekend riots in which more than 60 persons were killed.

After the bloody clashes between demonstrators and police, the government clamped on strict censorship and ordered troops to shoot troublemakers.

The demonstrations were sparked by the decision of the military government in Lagos to abolish the country's loose federal system and institute unitary rule from Lagos.

Fish Picked Off Lawn It Rained So Hard

CRANBROOK, B.C. (AP) — It rained so hard in Cranbrook Monday you could pick up fish from the lawn in a downtown park.

An inch of rain in less than an hour backed an underground river through a storm sewer into the park. With the river came dozens of trout, some of them 12 inches long.

Children scooped them up and took them home for dinner.

It Was Roundup Time At Airport In West

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — It was roundup time at Seattle-Tacoma airport Monday.

A pony wandered across U.S. Highway 99 and ran full tilt onto the airport apron and taxiway.

Airport security officers, state patrolmen and firemen in our cars chased down the animal.

One flight was delayed for one minute.

People In News

NEW YORK (AP) — Less than a day after he was hailed as a hero for rescuing a boy burned by a high-voltage power line, John Dennis, 28, stood in Criminal Court on a burglary charge.

Judge Herbert I. Sorin asked Monday: "Are you the man who rescued the little boy?"

Dennis said he was, and the judge said: "I was very proud of you, but now I'm disillusioned. First you acted like a real citizen and then you do something like this. What got into you?"

"We're going to try to help you. The court is going to be lenient. I'm going to parole you of folk songs.

for a hearing. Now you can go home. I hope you appreciate what the court did for you."

Dennis, who on Sunday rescued Ronnie Perez, 11, after the boy caught fire following a brush with a railroad power line, was charged with burglarizing a Brooklyn service station.

The boy, who toppled off a fence and plunged 30 feet to the freight tracks of the long Island rail road, was reported in critical condition.

The words and music for the album were written by Sister Miriam Therese, one of the sisters who will be making the trip.

Title of the album: "Joy is Like the Rain."

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — W. Mack Davis, 72, Palm Springs, Calif., finally received his bachelor of arts degree from Colorado College.

Davis concluded his studies 50 years ago but had never received his degree because of a technicality.

The faculty voted to award the degree with a Latin designation, acknowledging the lapse in time.

While a student at Colorado College, Davis had an excellent academic record and for three years, 1914-1916, he was named the outstanding all-around athlete of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

MOSCOW (AP) — Dmitri Shostakovich, 59, the Soviet Union's leading composer, has suffered a slight heart attack at his home in Leningrad but is recovering, a family source reports.

He was stricken Saturday night after a concert at which three of his new works were performed. He was to have spoken at the opening of the third Tchaikovsky competition for young musicians in Moscow Monday, but Cultural Minister Ekaterina Furtseva told the audience he was ill.

Youngstown Man, 43, Held On Dope Charge

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Police have arrested Arthur Johnson, 43, of Youngstown on charges of illegal possession of narcotics. He is scheduled for arraignment today in Municipal Court.

Also arrested in a raid Monday was Charles Dial, 39, of Pittsburgh, who was held as a parole violator.

Patrolman William Campanizzi said the raid on Johnson's home yielded a vial of cocaine, four packets of heroin and an envelope of marijuana. Campanizzi said the illegal drugs had not been available in Youngstown for many years. He said the flow of the drugs started recently and added the supply was believed to be coming from Pittsburgh.

He died Monday at Salem City Hospital, where he was born Sunday. The mother is a clerk in Eastern District Court here.

Hancock Mishap Hurts 2 Children

Two young New Cumberland girls were treated at Weirton General Hospital Monday night for abrasions received in an auto mishap at West Virginia Route 2 and Kings Creek Rd., the Hancock County sheriff's office reported.

They were Cathy Sandy, 3, and Judy Sandy, 5, daughters of Mrs. Beverly Sandy of 1106 2nd Ave.

They were passengers in a northbound 1965 pickup truck driven by Blaine L. Channing, 41, also of 2nd Ave., which collided with a 1957 auto driven by Howard B. Gaston, 30, of Weirton R. D. 1, as the latter vehicle entered the main thoroughfare.

Combined damage of $700 was estimated to the two vehicles.

Gaston was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

The accident was timed at 9:30.

Trustees Of College To Push Charter Bid

LISBON — Trustees of the proposed Columbiana County Community College will continue their efforts to obtain a charter, Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, chairman, said today.

He said the trustees do not believe they should "fold up" because the Ohio Board of Regents denied their request for a charter May 20. Gosney said the trustees will make a study to find how many Carroll County students would attend a Columbiana County College. Neighboring Carroll has a population of approximately 20,900.

Efforts also will be made to enlist the support of Salem and East Liverpool residents so the county will not lose the $1.7 million earmarked for a Columbiana College or a like amount available from the federal government on a matching basis, Gosney said.

Nearly 55 million persons, about 30 per cent of the population, are enrolled in schools or colleges.

Combined damages of $450 were estimated to the two vehicles. Neither motorist was injured and there were no citations.

Javits

career in which he has gone all out for civil rights.

It also is Javits' view that if John F. Kennedy had not won the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, it would have been another decade before a Roman Catholic breakthrough in the political field. He feels the Jews may be 10 years away from a similar achievement if he fails to get the second place spot in 1968.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has gone a long way toward linking Javits' vice-presidential aspirations to the presidential hopes of Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In a Garden City, N.Y., speech last week, Rockefeller said he had bowed out of the presidential picture "forever" and suggested that Romney and Javits should share the top spots on the 1968 Republican ticket.

The New York governor also said he would be in favor of Javits' running for the 1968 nomination as a favorite son candidate from New York.

If Rockefeller is re-elected, Javits' friends will be reminding him of the favorite son support. If the governor should lose, the delegation will be Javits' by default.

These prospects put the New York senator in a potentially powerful position to have something to say about the top nomination. He doesn't necessarily have to hitch his aspirations to Romney's wagon.

FBI Due To Question Youth In Theft Of Car

An agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation is due in East Liverpool this afternoon to question 17-year-old Aliquippa boy arrested Sunday morning on a charge of stealing an auto in Monaca, Police Chief A. J. Radetski said.

The youth was found asleep in the allegedly stolen car about 19 a. m. at 2nd and Washington Sts. Police said a check showed the 1960 auto had been reported stolen Saturday by Edna P. Christopher of Monaca Rd., Monaca.

The FBI was called into the case because of the federal statute prohibiting transport of a stolen motor vehicle across a state line, the chief explained. The youth is in detention at City Hall.

Station Wagon, Auto In Hancock Collision

A 1959 station wagon driven by Pete Stover, 63, of near Newell and a 1961 auto driven by Joseph William Childs, 33, of Youngstown were involved in a collision Monday afternoon in front of the Stover residence on West Virginia Route 66, the Hancock County sheriff's office reports.

Only 20 states and the District of Columbia require periodic inspection of motor vehicles.

In West Virginia Case

Appeals Court Upholds Ruling On Reward Money

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The 4th Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld a lower court ruling distributing reward money stemming from burglary of the West Virginia Motor Vehicles Department in Charleston.

The decision Monday reaffirmed the ruling that West Virginia Beer Commissioner Grover T. Davis was not entitled to a share of the $34,198 reward.

The court said Davis, who was an investigator in the Kanawha County prosecutor's office at the time of the burglary, could not claim the reward for duties he was required to perform.

The case stemmed from the $370,000 burglary of the Motor-Vehicles Department in 1960.

Earl Mathews, a former Charleston bus driver, was arrested and convicted and has since been released on parole.

Under Field's ruling, $19,198 would go to Mrs. Mary Kathleen McIntyre, credited with telling authorities Mathews was living beyond his means after the burglary.

Judge Field ruled the remainder of the reward would go to Mathews' wife Hildegarde; Cennie Williams, who identified the pick used to enter the vault;

Millard Wallace, who discovered an iron bar used in the burglary; and Opal Kiefer, who notified police of a car used by Mathews.

The surging Braves, now one short of the Richmond International League record of nine straight wins, didn't gain any ground on league-leading Columbus, however. The Jets rebounded to take a 10-inning decision from faltering Jacksonville 5-4.

The Jets, down 4-0 through six innings, drew even with four runs over the last three innings.

They pushed over the clincher in the 10th on George Spriggs' second triple and Gene Michael's game-winning single.

The win put the Jets 1 1/2 games ahead of the Suns and the Mud Hens, deadlocked for the second spot.

Elsewhere, Toronto won a doubleheader at Buffalo, 4-2 and 5-0 while Rochester won

5-4 at Syracuse.

Virginia Area Hit By Quake

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A rolling, rumbling earthquake that a Georgetown University scientist described as small and not unusual hit the Richmond area early today.

Father Bernard McConnell of Georgetown said the quake measured about four on the Richter scale.

The quake was felt in a line from Washington to Richmond in the south, as far west as Charlottesville and east to Williamsburg.

No major damage or injuries were reported.

Father McConnell described the tremor as a "small local earthquake like those that occur every few months" in the East Coast area. He said it was too small to be recorded at any distance.

Residents of the area hit were more alarmed. Hundreds called police, radio stations and newspapers with reports of furniture thrown around rooms and their houses shaking.

Pair Escapes Patrolman In Pursuit Afoot

Two men escaped on foot about 4 a.m. today when Patrolman Howard E. Frontz sought to question them about a suspected burglary attempt at the Burbick Hardware Store on Washington St., police reported.

Frontz was on routine cruiser patrol when he spotted the two standing near a doorway on the east side of the building, Lt. W. E. McDaniel reported. The patrolman stopped the auto and stepped out to question the pair, but they fled on foot in opposite directions.

The officer gave pursuit on foot, chasing one of the suspects who fled south on Broadway toward E. 4th St. The unidentified man turned east, eluding the patrolman in the vicinity of a used car lot at Pleasant Alley and Walnut St., McDaniel said.

No sign of a forcible entry was found in a later check at the hardware store.

Meanwhile, police are continuing investigation of an entry discovered Monday morning at Bert's Atlantic Service Station at 1608 Harvey Ave., operated by Bert Willson.

Burglars entered a storage building east of the station some time between 10 p.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. yesterday, taking three full cases of soft drinks and four 12-pound bottles of another variety, 240 peanut butter cups and 24 pieces of assorted candy, officers said.

Entrance was gained by breaking a 12-x-14-inch hole through the side of the building, police said. The entry was discovered by James Reed of 525 Palissey St., an employee of the station, who found a door open when he went to obtain supplies.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith was notified of the entry by the owner while on routine patrol. About noon yesterday, some of the loot was discovered by the Rev. W. L. Mautz of 1833 Michigan Ave. while he was cutting grass at his home. He found 13 quarts of the soft drinks alongside a wall near railroad tracks, officers said.

U.S. Authorities Watching Alabama's Runoff Primary

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Federal authorities kept a close watch today on Alabama's Democratic party runoff primary in which Negroes ran against white opponents in 16 of the state's 67 counties.

The Justice Department sent poll watchers into six counties — Choctaw, Greene, Hale, Marengo, Perry and Sumter — just as it did in the first primary May 3 when 12 counties were put under surveillance.

They were under instructions to look for possible violations of the new federal Voting Rights Act. In two of the counties, Hale and Perry, local officials had asked for them.

Ohio AFL-CIO Eyes Effort For Reapportionment Plan Vote

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Ohio AFL-CIO convention will consider a proposal urging the Ohio Legislature to place a new apportionment plan on the 1967 fall ballot.

More than 2,200 delegates will attend the three-day convention, which opens today at public auditorium.

The resolution proposed by member unions and committees calls for "an equitable apportionment plan" so the state's congressional districts are "compact, contiguous and near-equal in population."

Also, the resolution asks the legislature to place on the 1967 ballot a constitutional amendment containing suitable safeguards against future congressional district gerrymandering, federation officials said.

Warren J. Smith, a federation spokesman, said he could not elaborate on the proposal. Other proposed convention resolutions include:

— Repeat support for reform of the state's "highly regressive" tax structure, but make clear the organization's opposition to increases in taxes, like the present sales tax.

— Extend benefits under the state's jobless insurance law from 26 to 36 weeks, and hike weekly benefits to two thirds of the state's average wage, with employers required to pay unemployment taxes on an employee's annual wage, rather than the first $3,000.

— Enactment of a statutory Ohio minimum wage.

Woman Suffers Injury To Eye In Bomb Explosion

NEW YORK (AP) — One woman suffered a serious eye injury and another was hurt slightly when a bomb exploded in a telephone booth in a Manhattan subway station.

The explosion Monday was beneath the Municipal Building, a short distance from City Hall.

It tore apart two phone booths and shattered glass and metal in an area where about 10 persons were walking.

Police said it could have been far more serious if the device, which resembled a huge firecracker, had gone off on a normal work day.

Doctors removed glass fragments from the right eye of Carrie Mangum, 38, of Brooklyn, and said she would need more surgery.

The other injured woman, Maria Ortiz, 18, of the Bronx, was cut slightly by flying glass.

Dominican's Elections Set Wednesday

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican Republic reaches another decisive moment Wednesday in its long, frustrating search for some sort of democratic system, and a strange, indefinable mood seems to have settled over this tortured little island nation.

There is suppressed excitement on the eve of national elections which conceivably could bring new, bloody chaos. There seems to be little real optimism about the future, but there seems to be little real pessimism either.

Until the elections are behind them, Dominicans cannot be sure that elections are going to be held successfully at all. But that is only the first hurdle.

The chances are that hurdle will be taken. The next will be acceptance of the result. If the vote Wednesday is close — and that seems likely — there is a good chance for trouble from supporters of the man who is declared the loser.

If that hurdle is taken, there are still others. Any president declared elected must be successfully inaugurated. Then he must remain in office. In a country like the Dominican Republic it will not be easy.

The two major candidates, Juan Bosch of the Dominican Revolutionary party — PRD — and Joaquin Balaguer of the Reform party — PR — each bears a burden of political liability.

Bosch overthrown in September 1963 after seven months as the nation's first democratically elected president, was accused then of being soft on communism. The charge remains to haunt him.

Balaguer became president in 1961 after the assassination of the dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, under whom he had served as vice president. The charge of Trujilloism remains to haunt him.

Should Balaguer win by a tight margin, there could be an explosion in the streets sparked by leftists. Should Bosch win by a close margin, the reaction might be more slow, but he could be in danger from right-wing elements in the armed forces.

82 Cases Slated

Session Opened By Beaver Court

Beaver County Criminal Court opened a two-week summer session today, with Judges Ralph C. Scalera and John Sawyer scheduled to hear 82 cases.

Among the cases are 10 which involve Midland and East Liverpool area men.

Four East Liverpool men, a Midland man and a Beaver Falls man face charges of inciting a riot in Midland the morning of Feb. 13. They are Ronald Roach, Lester Roach, Richard Pack and Marvin Pack, all of East Liverpool. Charles Allen of Midland and John L. Slappy of Beaver Falls.

RONALD ROACH also will be tried on charges of aggravated assault and battery and resisting arrest. Slappy also faces a charge of resisting arrest.

Patrolman William Monac of Midland filed the riot and resisting arrest charges, while Allen is charging Ronald Roach with aggravated assault and battery.

David L. Graham of Weirton and Darrell E. Grimes of New Brighton will be tried on charges of attempted robbery and accomplice before the act of attempted robbery respectively.

The charges, filed by Sgt. Vincent D'Itri of Midland Police Department, resulted from the attempted robbery of John Dardzinski, an elderly Midland coin dealer, last Dec. 11.

The incident resulted in the death of Stanley D. (Stutz) Simcox of Chester, who died of gun-

By HAL HUMPHREY

The Bette Davis Answer

Seeing a favorite star-type suddenly appear on the TV screen in a commercial still makes me wince, and I winced really hard when I saw Bette Davis had joined the ranks to peddle an orange drink.

It's apparently an old-fashioned attitude in today's commercial Hal Humphrey world, but disillusioning to me to find that someone I've enjoyed watching as Queen Elizabeth is now a huckster for a breakfast beverage. I know there is no Santa Claus, but I resent having it constantly proved.

"THERE ISN'T enough money to get me to do a commercial about something I don't like," says Miss Davis to some invisible interviewer who coyly is asking her what she thinks of the drink. As this tense 30-second drama continues, she goes on to tell how the stuff, in her opinion, tastes more like orange juice than orange juice itself.

The voice from above says, climactically, how his company didn't want to be so brash as to make such a claim, but he's so happy that Miss Davis said it. Eggh!

The more respect I've had for the star whom I suddenly find perverting his or her talent this way, the more curious I am to learn why they've done it (a kind of masochistic exercise on my part, I suppose).

MANY YEARS AGO Henry Fonda signed on as the host of 39 half-hour drama films for TV, but his real job was to sell beer for the sponsor, which he did at the opening and closing of each show. When I asked him why he did it, Fonda replied, "Money—$150,000 of it."

I had to ask the same question of a great and grand lady, the late Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who in 1959 did some TV commercials for an oleomargarine.

"My agent has been trying to get me on radio or TV, but everyone he contacts says the same thing—that I am too controversial—so now he's convinced me that if such a large sponsor as Lever Bros. is willing to link its name with mine on TV, it might break the log jam," replied Mrs. Roosevelt at the time.

WELL, OF COURSE, it did no such thing, and she only had given her enemies another opportunity to point to what they were hoping had turned into feet of clay.

Miss Davis' answer is that she wanted the chance to look good or respectable, which she hadn't.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Requests, Not Commands, Are Suggested

In a column some while ago, I discussed stubbornness and how to prevent or reduce it in the child under five or six: Except in matters of routine, when you wish the youngster to do something, don't command him. Ask him. Aim to be so persuasive then that he is very Dr. Garry Myers likely to accede to your request. But if he doesn't accede, don't tell him he must. Don't command him then. Don't shift from a request in the same situation to a command.

If, however, he is doing something dangerous, or destructive or something you have forbidden him to do, don't ask him to quit; say No or Don't, and if he does not obey promptly, punish him effectively. With the very young child, clearly draw the line between a request and a command.

IN REPLY to that column a mother from Columbia, Missouri wrote:

"There are two difficulties that I don't think you have taken into account": 1. People who make what they consider a polite request generally do resent a refusal and still more a simple neglect of it, unless good reasons are given and given politely. Incidentally, the art of refusing without offending is definitely one that children have to be taught, or they go through life resenting or being resented. 2. Except in emergency ('Call the doctor!') many people always express their orders as requests.

"My suggested principle seems to me simpler and easier. It is never to ask my two-year-old anything unless I want information. 'Do you want another animal cracker?'

"Many people phrase requests in the form, 'Do you want to—?' I think this is intended to be extra gracious, but it seems most ungracious to people whose habits are different, because it purports to offer a favor rather than ask one. 'Do you want to help me with the dishes?' I have no strong objection to helping wash the dishes, but I always feel tempted to give a factual answer to these false questions. Used with small children, I think they are just asking for trouble.

"DO YOU want to put on your bib?" Whether Tommy wants to put on his bib is of no practical importance to me, and I'd just as soon not know. I do ask him if he wants to turn on the light, because this is something that I am willing to have him do if it will give him pleasure (it does) but just as willing to do myself if he is busy at the moment. But when something is going to happen anyway, even if it is a treat, I say, 'We're going out now' or 'Book time.'

My reply in part: You show considerable insight

Hill Becomes Official Winner In Most Unusual 500 Race

No. 4 Finisher Protests

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Londoner Graham Hill was confirmed today as winner of the 50th Indianapolis 500-mile race, but fourth-place Gordon Johncock filed a protest because no work was allowed on his damaged car before the race was restarted.

Anthony Granatelli, representing runner-up Jim Clark of Scotland, had considered protesting Hill's victory, but he said after a conference with timers and scorers that Clark's crew had missed one time when Hill passed Clark.

The final official standings were identical with the results announced at the end of Monday's wreck-marred race.

Johncock's car was damaged in a 16-car smashup on the first lap of the race. His crew was not allowed to work on it in his pit until the race was restarted, under an extension of a rule that no work may be done on a car within one hour of the start of the race.

The same rule was applied to four other cars that were in the pits at the second start.

Granatelli said, "We concede that we missed one time when Graham Hill passed us (Clark)."

He said Clark could run no more than 150 miles an hour because of chassis problems that developed after two spins.

A massive, flaming pile-up involving 16 of the 33 starters scattered wrecks over the track and sent wheels and parts spraying into the crowd after a mishap on the first turn. Miraculously, only one driver—A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex.—and 14 spectators received only minor injuries.

The 36-year-old Hill, making his first start in America's most prestigious auto race, was declared the winner after the track was cleared and the race restarted with the field trimmed to 22.

Clark's backers were quick to dispute it.

"It is impossible for Hill to be the winner," said Andrew Granatelli of Chicago, a part-owner of Clark's car. "We were a lap ahead of (Scot Jackie) Stewart and Hill was even farther behind. There's been an error."

Another Clark team member, Gene N. Spencer, a Midwest distributor of Lotus automobiles, also was quick to lodge a protest.

"I definitely believe there has been an error in the scoring," he said. "We know we won. We can't officially protest until Tuesday, but if the results are posted and show Hill the winner, we will protest immediately."

"But we believe that a check of the timing and scoring tapes will show we won."

At stake—aside from the enormous prestige—is about $200,000 in first prize money. The problem is over the number of laps completed.

The tradition-shrouded race was fouled up from the beginning, when No. 1 starter Mario Andretti barely had crossed the starting line in the flying start before Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C., only Canadian in the line-up, collided with Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich. Foster said somebody crowded him.

That set off a spectacular chain reaction pile-up which eliminated 11 cars and wiped out such strong contenders as Foyt, Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., and Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif.

The race had to be restarted because of an impassable track, delaying the show an hour and 24 minutes. The only other wreck-caused restart was two years ago after drivers Eddie Sachs and Dave MacDonald were killed in a flaming second-lap pile-up.

The numerically worst previous accident, the 15-car wreck on the first lap in 1958, left driver Pat O'Connor dead in a burning car.

European road racers in the field, Hill and Gurney in particular, criticized the bunched, flying start which sets up chain reaction wrecks.

"We generally do not have these chain reaction type accidents on the Grand Prix circuit, where we begin from a standing start," said Hill, a rookie at

GRAHAM HILL

Indianapolis but a former world road racing champion. The field quickly strings out after a standing start.

Only 17 cars were left for the single file restart. Five others waited in the pits for minor repairs.

Of the 22 cars that finally got rolling, four others were eliminated by wrecks of drivers Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., and a collision of George Snider, Fresno, and Chuck Hulse, Downey, Calif. None was hurt. The 11 other failures went out with assorted mechanical troubles, including leaders Andretti, broken valve; Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., oil leak, and Stewart oil pressure failure.

Stewart almost added the Indianapolis 500 to his May 22 Monaco Grand Prix victory, leading the field by more than a lap at one time before his Lola-Ford failed with 25 miles to go.

Hill also drove an English-American hybrid Lola-Ford owned by John Mecom Jr. of Houston.

Ruby made America's best showing. He took the lead from Clark three times in the first three-quarters of the race, twice when the hard-pressed Scot went into spins—both times without hitting anything—and once by outrunning Clark on the mainstretch.

Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., finished third in a Gerhardt-Ford. Rookie Mel Kenyon of Davenport, Iowa, who lost most of his left hand in a racing accident last year, was awarded fifth place, highest for an Offenhauser-powered car, and lacked only one lap of finishing when the race was declared ended. Johncock was fourth.

With the yellow caution light on 40 minutes of the race, compared with only 13 minutes in 1965, Hill's average speed of 144.317 m.p.h. was far off Clark's record 150.686.

The total purse and prize division will not be announced until the traditional victory dinner tonight. Clark won $166,621 last year.

Jack Lamabe, who often has trouble retiring American League batters, will be in Westwood, N.J., July 12 getting married. Denny McLain, who already is married, will be in St. Louis that day trying to retire National League batters.

McLain took another step toward becoming the American League's starting pitcher in the All-Star Game by pitching his second one-hitter of the season as Detroit defeated Kansas City 5-2 Monday.

Lamabe also pitched a one-hitter in Chicago's 11-0 second-game victory over Boston, but he doesn't expect to join McLain on the AL All-Star staff so he's going ahead with his marriage plans.

"I'll be very happy just to make the White Sox," Lamabe said after missing a no-hitter because of Joe Foy's leadoff single in the eighth inning.

Lamabe never had pitched a game like that before in the majors. In fact, it was the first shutout in his five-year career and his first complete game in nearly two years. And it came in his first start of the season.

Lamabe, now with his fourth team, had compiled a 5-4 record, earned run average in seven relief appearances this season.

season when he was a starter with Boston, the 29-year-old right-hander has been primarily a reliever. In his other three seasons, he appeared in 128 games, only four of them as a starter.

McLain, on the other hand, is developing into one of the best pitchers in the majors.

A 16-game winner in his first full season in the majors last year, the son-in-law of Lou Boudreau is the winningest pitcher in the AL, has won as many games as Sandy Koufax and is only one behind major league leader Juan Marichal.

The 22-year-old right-hander stopped the White Sox on one hit May 6, allowing only a second-inning single by J. C. Martin.

The only hit Kansas City managed against him was Phil Roof's two-out double in the fifth.

In other AL games, Chicago downed Boston in the first game 1-0, California swept Cleveland 4-3 and 5-1, Baltimore defeated

Minnesota 5-1 before bowing 7-4 and Washington stopped New York 2-1 after losing 4-2.

Bernie Allen had a big Memorial Day with a tie-breaking two-run homer in the eighth inning of the second game which led the Minnesota Twins to a 6-4 victory.

Allen had three hits in four trips to the plate, three RBIs and scored a run. The home run was his first of the season.

the third straight for the White Sox.

John Buzhardt gained the second in a row in the opener, stopping the Red Sox on five hits.

Bill Skowron singled across the only run of the game in the seventh inning.

Roff's hit off McLain drove in two runs—the runners had walked—and tied the game 2-2. But Dick McAuliffe tripled home two runs in the seventh and scored on Norm Cash's single.

Home runs by California's Jim Fregosi and Bobby Knoop helped hand Cleveland its second doubleheader defeat in two days.

Fregosi's seventh-inning homer in the opener snapped a 3-3 deadlock while Knoop's two-run blast in the fourth inning of the second game put the Angels ahead to stay. Minnie Rojas, making his major league debut, gained the victory in the nightcap with relief help from Dean Chance.

Dave Johnson rapped four hits in the first game, including a single that triggered Baltimore's three-run sixth inning, while Woody Held and Andy Etchebarren added homers to the Orioles' attack.

Minnesota won the nightcap behind Harmon Killebrew's pair of homers and Bernie Allen's tie-breaking, two-run blow in the eighth.

Bobby Richardson's double and a single by Elston Howard were the key blows in a three-run first inning outburst that carried the Yankees past Washington in the opener.

The Senators came back for the second-game victory by breaking a 1-1 tie in the eighth on a double by Bob Chance and Bob Saverine's single.

Mets, Phils Hold Beanball Battle

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The beanball war has flared up at Shea Stadium only this time it's an elbow, hip and shoulder battle.

Dick Selma of the Mets hit Richie Allen of the Phils on the shoulder with a pitch in the third inning of Monday's second game. When Selma came to bat in the third, Bob Buhl hit him on the right elbow, knocking him out of the game. The next time Buhl came up, relief pitcher Jack Fisher plunked him in the hip.

The Phils won the opener 7-2 but the Mets came back to win the second game 3-1.

The 46,882 fans had a field day boozing Buhl and pelting him with fruit.

All of this brought angry noises from Mets' Manager Wes Westrum.

"When they take a pot shot at one of my boys, you have to protect your players," Westrum said. "We have a standing order to get the pitcher who threw the ball. I'm not saying what they (Philis) were trying to do. I'm going to do what they did."

"The first time he (Buhl) threw at Selma he just missed. Then he came back with another. That's for the birds. This is a young kid of mine. I know he's innocent because I didn't give any orders to throw at Allen. The kid's whole pitching career could go out the window. Fortunately the X-rays are negative but Lord knows how long he will be out."

"I believe in an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. You've got to protect your own ballplayers. Any pitcher that takes care of any of my ball players is going to get it."

"Is his (Buhl's) control that bad? He is a control artist. That's what has kept him around this long."

Westrum said the incident made my players mad. You let sleeping dogs lie don't you?"

Over in the opposing clubhouse, Manager Gene Mauch of the Phillies said, "There's no place for sleeping dogs in baseball. I'd never admit anything woke my team up."

"I have no idea if he (Selma) threw at Allen. I expect Fisher to throw at Buhl and so did he. Buhl was glad he got hit. He got on base. Nobody cried about it. I haven't thought anything of it. Two of our guys got hit and one of theirs. It was unfortunate that he got hurt."

When Mauch was asked if he gave orders to loosen up opposing players, he said, "My orders are for my players, not the public."

"When they take a pot shot at one of my boys, you have to protect your players," Westrum said. "We have a standing order to get the pitcher who threw the ball. I'm not saying what they (Philis) were trying to do. I'm going to do what they did."

Cepeda Continues Hot Streak To Pace Cards' Victory

Clemente Belts 2 As Bucs Sweep

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Cepeda is toting around the hottest bat in baseball but for slugging, how about little Maury Wills, who could be a threat to Babe Ruth's home run records if there were enough Memorial Days in the year.

Cepeda had a perfect night with a homer, two doubles and a single Monday and provided all the offense Bob Gibson needed as St. Louis' ace right-hander throttled Houston 3-1 on a three-hitter.

Wills led off Los Angeles 10-6 victory over Atlanta with a home run—the 10th of his National League career and his first since Aug. 31, 1964.

The sudden power shown by Wills was almost expectable. It was exactly four years ago—Memorial Day 1962—that the switch-hitting shortstop made it to the record book by hitting a homer from each side of the plate. Only six other National League batters have achieved that feat.

Cepedas four hits gave him a string of seven over two games and raised his batting average to .330. The veteran first baseman, who came in a trade from San Francisco for pitcher Ray Sadecki, drove in two runs and scored the other as the Cardinals won their third straight.

Sadecki, meanwhile, turned in his first victory for the Giants, beating Cincinnati 8-4 on a five hitter. Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Chicago 3-2 and 5-3 with Roberto Clemente homering in each game, and Philadelphia split a pair with New York, winning 7-2 and losing 3-1.

Wills' homer started a 16-hit Dodger attack that included six doubles and three hits apiece by John Roseboro and Tommy Davis.

Cepeda doubled home Lou Brock in the first inning and then hammered his eighth homer of the season and fifth in 18 games with St. Louis in the fourth. The big first baseman doubled

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Many of you have written that you bought new solid plastic mats which fit across the racks in your refrigerator shelves to keep them clean. I know that they are on the market.

Be very careful about doing this, and here's why:

Refrigerator manufacturers have written to me that the reason they put these grate-type shelves in their refrigerators is so there will be circulation! They say when you put a solid plastic or foil over the racks in the refrigerator, that it blocks the circulation, retards proper cooling, and eventually burns out the motor! Did you know that?

Motors on refrigerators are extremely expensive. If you doubt this, wait until you need a new one!

IF YOU WANT to keep one small piece of plastic on half of one shelf where you set your leaky milk cartons or something that spills over, that might be fine. Better yet, they recommend an old throwaway pie pan so that if something does drip or spill the edges will hold the liquid.

For one shelf of your refrigerator, you might use one of those lace-type plastic place-mats. This lets the cold air circulate and also holds the tiny containers you might want to keep in your refrigerator.

But manufacturers say never, never cover an entire shelf with foil or a solid-type plastic of any kind.

HELOISE.

P.S.: REMEMBER: If the refrigerator manufacturers thought that solid plastic or metal shelves would work better, I can assure you that they would be the first ones to put them in us. Their labs know better. They've been in business a long time.

Dear Heloise: Those little tubs that the new, soft margarine comes in make perfect dishes for my baby's soap.

DEAR HELOISE: We took ordinary bath towels (in colors to match the walls) and made curtains out of them.

Since I can't sew, I just pinned the ends over with safety pins and they don't show.

When we want a different color or scheme, we change to another color of towels.

DEAR HELOISE: My husband and I like a bedtime snack but I found the dresser scarf on the night stand was taking a beating.

I decided to use one of my fancy terry cloth hand towels for a scarf and find it works wonderfully.

It absorbs any moisture from glasses, is easy to launder, requires no bleach, starch or ironing and prevents scratches.

And it blends in with my color scheme because I change the towel to match my bedspreads.

MOON VALLEY

WE'VE HIT A PARTICULARLY RICH VEIN OF GOLD, GOVERNOR.

SCENE: ONE OF THE MOON GOVERNOR'S MINES.

OUR SYSTEM OF MINING GOLD WITH THE LASER BEAM WILL BE AN EYE-OPENER TO DUSTY SMITH.

ON EARTH THEY STILL DIG OUT THE ORE AND GO THROUGH THAT LABORIOUS SMELTING BUSINESS.

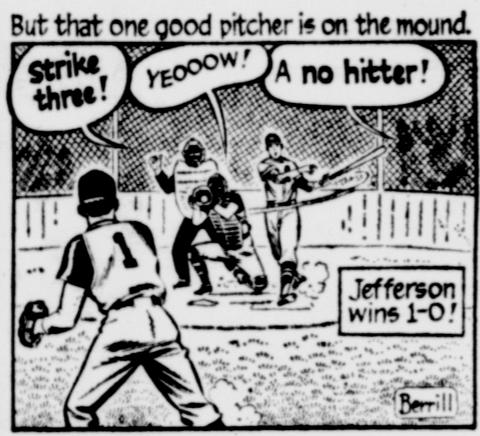

STEVE CANYON

THE CHAPLAIN BRINGS IN THIS VIETNAM TYPE AND SAYS TO GIVE HIM A BOOT CAMP JOB.

WHY, HELLO, STEVE! I THOUGHT YOU WERE ON LEAVE!

WITH THAT HAIRCUT YOU LOOK AS IF YOU'VE BEEN A PRISONER OF WAR BEHIND THE VIET CONG LINES!

...I RAN INTO SOME STRANGE CREATURES AND LIFE OUT HERE HAD TO SHAVE TOO... BUT COLLEGE STUDENTS LONG ALSO MADE ME LOSE MY HAIR!

GIL THORP

IT'S MILFORD VS. JEFFERSON HIGH.

You think if we win a game it might put an end to all this talk of Ziggy Walters being a jinx?

I'm quite sure it will, Holly!

And today might be the day! Jefferson is the weakest team in the league! They only have one good pitcher!

Strike three! YEOOWW! A no hitter!

Jefferson Wins 1-0!

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, May 31, the 151st day of 1966. There are 214 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1889, one of the nation's worst flood disasters occurred — the Johnstown, Pa., flood. Between 2,000 and 3,000 persons died when heavy rains caused a dam to burst at South Fork, 12 miles above the city.

On this date

In 1916, during World War I, the naval battle of Jutland began.

In 1926, the Sesquicentennial exposition opened in Philadelphia.

In 1941, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes was appointed petroleum coordinator for national defense.

In 1942, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill said Germany would be pounded city by city.

In 1945, the Japanese on Okinawa lost the strong defense point of Shuri in the center of the enemy line.

Ten years ago — Biblical scholars announced they had deciphered two more of the Dead Sea scrolls discovered in Jordan in 1952. The two scrolls told of a fabulous treasure of gold and silver hidden in a secret place that probably was referred to in a third scroll that was still undiscovered.

Five years ago — In secret French-Algerian peace talks in France, the delegation from Paris and the rebel representatives from Algeria disagreed over the status of the oil-rich Sahara Desert.

Maryellen Connors of West Mifflin, Pa., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
